Before he was voted to be the next President of the United States Donald Trump was already known for his billions and billions of dollars. He made some of his money from investing and developing properties in New York's Manhattan area, but he's also known for his appearances on 'The Apprentice'. While most of it probably wouldn't have been possible without his father's money, he has made quite a name and fortune for himself over the years. And with that fortune comes ridiculously expensive things that most people would have no use for. <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=u9CtzalboVg>
